Best Practices

Best Practice 1: "Inclusion of Human values and Ethics amongst students, through compulsory Courses and activities."

The knowledge and practice of human values and ethics is imparted through the regular theory and practical courses offered by the affiliating university. In addition to this, regular sessions are being organized to inculcate human values and ethics among students and staff. These courses and regular activities foster a strong sense of ethical judgment amongst students.

Best Practice 2: "Academic Audit by competent assessors to find the areas for further improvements".

In order to ensure continuous improvement in the teaching learning skills and academic performance of faculty members, the institute conducts an academic audit of all faculty members during each mid semester where lecture notes, deployment, course outcomes, tutorials sheets & solutions, lab manuals/records, lab record are vetted by senior faculty members including Director. The notable fact about this process is its congeniality and ease which gives space to every individual. This whole process is carried out in a very healthy and cordial atmosphere.

Students play a vital role in the evaluation, development and enrichment of the quality of this learning experience. Feedback from students about teaching-learning and other facilitates of the institute is conducted in every semester, to improve the quality of delivery based on the feedback.

Best Practice 3: "Extension Activities"

RCEW has adopted the nearby village 'Sirsi', where round the year students of RCEW educate the children of mostly wards of labour class and then every year a camp is being held to educate villagers about healthy living, saving the girl child, education for all and thus contributing in the holistic development of the school going children and their parents.
